

Monday, May 28, 2007

San Antonio 2007 Market Reports

The 2007 real estate market report from the Texas Real Estate Center is now available on my website. The report covers census data, employment and unemployment, major industries, business climate, education, transportation and infrastructure issues, growth patterns and much more. Click on the link below to download this report.

2007 San Antonio Market Report

Some highlights from this report for the San Antonio area are as follows...

The median price for a San Antonio residential home in 2006 was $140,100. The required income to qualify for this home was $35,324, while the median family income in San Antonio during 2006 was $53,992. This means that a residential home continues to be attainable for the average San Antonio family.

Christina Whipple

www.ChristinaWhipple.com

Posted by Christina Whipple at 14:22